

NEWS:

Tim Harford, author of “The Undercover Economist”, will speak at Oxford PPE Society!

Date and time will be announced shortly.

Our events this term...

Dr Maung Zarni on Freedom for Burma
Tuesday of Week 2 at 8:30 at the Oxford Union, Morris Room

Come hear Dr Maung Zarni, charismatic founder of the Free Burma coalition and important political activist in the fight for Burmese democracy, deliver his ideas on the political situation in Myanmar and discussing the issues at hand with respect to a broader context of scholarship, leadership and activism.

Philosophy Thursdays
Thursdays of Weeks 2, 4, 6, 8 at 7:00 pm, Magdalen College

Come discuss, debate, analyze, criticise, disagree (or agree!) with the ideas that will be thrown around when we'll tackle fascinating and meaningful questions. Offered in association with SocSoc, Oxford's Philosophy Society.

Accenture Presentation: “What is management consulting?”
Friday of Week 3, 6:30 pm, Copa Bar, George Street

Come and find out what management consulting is really like. Our sponsor Accenture will give an insightful presentation on the wide spectrum of management consulting services and answer any questions you may have about a career as a consultant. Followed by a Pub Quiz!

Dr John Lucas on ‘Time and Reality’
Wednesday of Week 4 at 8:30 pm

Dr John Lucas, Fellow of the British Academy, former President of the British Society for the Philosophy of Science and prolific writer will be addressing us on one of his areas of expertise, 'Time and Reality', in what promises to be a fascinating talk.
